Influx Creator Program Terms

Version 2.0 — published and effective on 2 November 2026. It replaces version 1.0 of 16 September 2026. Applications open on 11 November 2026. Previous versions remain available as PDFs at the bottom of this page.

This document is addressed to creators taking part in the Influx Creator Program. If you are a Friym user and want to know what happens when you enter a creator's code, the answer is in article 4 below and in article 3.7 of the Privacy Policy.

Before you apply

- Influx is a paid contract, not a game. By applying, you sign a contract with FIDEVO GROUP SAS, and you are answerable for what you do under it.
- You apply in the Friym app, from your account. The influx.friym.com website presents the programme; it does not take applications.
- Friym approves your code before it becomes active, then checks every step before paying it.
- One account, one code. Your code is attached to your personal profile, and it cannot be renamed.
- Fraud is never paid. It leads to permanent closure of the code, loss of unpaid sums and repayment of sums received. It may be prosecuted.
- Leaving is permanent. If your code is closed, including because you left the programme, you can never apply again.

Executive Summary

- 1. The programme and applying — Who can apply, how, and what your acceptance means.
- 2. Your code — How it is chosen, why it is attached to your personal profile, and why it cannot be renamed.
- 3. Attribution is permanent — The most important point for the users you invite.
- 4. What the user must know — Following your profile, and the absence of any hidden consideration.
- 5. Your dashboard — What you see, and what you never see.
- 6. Compensation — Per validated step, monthly statement, 5,000 F threshold.
- 7. Your obligations — What you may not promise or do to get sign-ups.
- 8. Fraud and sanctions — What counts as fraud, and what it costs you.
- 9. Confidentiality of the rate card — What you may not publish.
- 10. Suspension and end of participation — Leaving is permanent.
- 11. Liability — What you are answerable for, and what Friym is not.
- 12. General provisions — Changes, evidence, governing law, contact.

1. The programme and applying

1.1 Purpose

The Influx Creator Program allows creators to introduce Friym using a personal code, and to be paid for the steps reached by the accounts attributed to that code (article 6).

The programme pays for real people who genuinely use Friym, and nothing else. It guarantees no income, neither a minimum nor any number of sign-ups. Your participation is neither employment nor a vested right.

1.2 Who can apply

To apply, you must meet all of the following conditions:

- have a Friym account, be signed in to it, and have completed sign-up: your personal profile must be active;
- be an adult, meaning 18 years old or, if higher, the age of majority in your country of residence;
- have genuinely used Friym with this account. The criterion is shown in the app, along with your progress;
- apply for yourself, under your own identity. Applying on behalf of another person, or through a front person, is prohibited;
- not be subject to an active sanction on the platform;
- never have had a code closed, under this account or any other (article 10.3).

An account can hold only one code, for good.

1.3 Where and when

You apply in the Friym app. The influx.friym.com website is informational: it presents the programme and points to the app. The same process may later be offered on the web version of Friym, from a signed-in account, without these terms changing version.

Applications open on 11 November 2026. The programme works in every country where Friym is available, but places are limited: Friym may close applications at any time, without notice, and restrict them to certain countries.

1.4 Your acceptance

Before applying, you read these terms in the app, with their version number displayed, and the rate card (article 6.2). You declare that you are an adult, then you accept.

This acceptance constitutes your signature of the contract between you and FIDEVO GROUP SAS. We keep proof of it: the authenticated account, the exact version of the text accepted, the time on our servers, the device used and your declaration that you are an adult. Before you send your application, the app shows you a summary of it. As soon as you accept, you receive by e-mail a summary of your application: your code, the version of the terms and its effective date, the date and time of your acceptance, your declaration, and a link to the text you accepted.

1.5 Approval by Friym

Friym approves each application before the code becomes active. Until it is approved, no one can enter your code, and the app offers neither to share it nor to generate its visual. You are informed of the approval in the app and by e-mail.

Friym may refuse an application. The reason for the refusal is shown to you in the app. A refusal is not final: you may apply again, with a different code if it was the code that was refused. If your application is refused, your acceptance has no effect.

Approval does not rule out later checks: an approved code may be suspended or closed under articles 8 and 10.

2. Your code

2.1 Choosing the code

- You choose your code: 3 to 10 characters, letters and digits, with at least one letter.
- The app automatically checks that it is free and allowed. Some terms are reserved and cannot be taken: names and brands of Friym, of mobile operators, banks, other brands or authorities, and misleading terms such as promises of earnings. Friym does not publish this list.
- Friym reviews your code at approval. Even afterwards, Friym may close a code that is misleading, offensive or infringes the rights of a third party (article 10.2).
- A code cannot be renamed. It is printed on your visuals and remembered by the people you invite. A closed code is closed for good, and it is never reassigned to anyone.

2.2 Your code is attached to your personal profile

- Your code is always attached to your personal profile. It cannot be carried by a page, even one you own.
- Each person who enters your code is invited to follow your personal profile (article 4). This is also the profile from which you reach your dashboard.

2.3 Using the code

- Your code is personal to you. You may not sell, assign or lend it, or let another person operate it in your place.
- You may share it by any means you choose, subject to article 7.
- Once your code is approved, the app generates a visual from the photo on your personal profile, which you can share wherever you like.
- Changing your name or your handle on the platform has no effect on attributions already recorded.

3. Attribution is permanent

This is the point on which this document must be clearest.

- A user may enter a code within three (3) days of creating their account. After that, entry is refused.
- An account can be attributed to only one creator, once, permanently. This rule is enforced by the very structure of our data.
- There is no cancellation or transfer procedure for an attribution — not at the user's request, not at yours, and not through our support team. A mistyped code cannot be undone.
- The time elapsed between account creation and code entry is measured by our servers and recorded with the attribution. This measurement never comes from the user's device or from yours.

This irreversibility is deliberate. Its counterpart is the obligation, set out in article 4, to inform the user before they confirm.

4. What the user must know

Before confirming entry of a code, the user is informed in the app that the attribution is permanent. They also see your personal profile, which they will follow.

They must also know, and you may not let them believe otherwise:

- entering your code makes them follow, by default, your personal profile. They will therefore see your posts in their feed. Before confirming, they may choose not to follow while keeping you as their referrer. They may also unfollow at any time, and an unfollow is never reversed;
- the attribution gives them no price advantage, no additional feature and no preferential treatment on the platform;
- the attribution is visible nowhere: not on their profile, not on yours, not to any other user. No badge or public mention indicates that an account is attributed to a creator. If they follow you, they appear among your followers like any other follower, with no indication that they came through your code;
- they may at any time obtain from Friym confirmation of which creator their account is attributed to, by writing to privacy@friym.com.

5. Your dashboard

You have a dashboard in the Friym app, reached from your personal profile. It is private: only you can see it, and nothing in it is displayed publicly.

It shows you:

- your code, its status, the date of your acceptance and the version of the terms accepted;
- the number of accounts attributed to your code, in total and for the current month;
- for each step, the number of accounts that have reached it;
- what you are owed, what is under review, what has been rejected with its reason, and what has been paid to you;
- your monthly statements;
- the rate card.

You have no access to any personal data of the accounts attributed to your code: no list, no identity, no e-mail address, no individual date and no activity. Figures are given in total and per month, never per day.

You undertake not to attempt to identify, by cross-referencing or by any other means, the accounts attributed to your code, and not to ask Friym to disclose that information.

6. Compensation

6.1 Compensation per validated step

Each account attributed to your code can earn you points at each step it reaches, once per step:

1. account created with your code;
2. sign-up completed;
3. first post;
4. genuine use of Friym;
5. page created;
6. shop ready to sell;
7. first sale.

Steps 5 and 6 are defined as follows:

- Step 5 — Page created. The step is validated when a page created by the attributed account meets both of the following conditions within thirty (30) days of its creation:
    - it has published at least 5 posts, still online at the time of the check. Reposts and drafts do not count;
    - it has at least 10 followers. Your profile and the other profiles of the attributed account are not counted.

  A page that does not meet these conditions within that period does not validate the step, even if it meets them later. Creating a page, on its own, validates no step.
- Step 6 — Shop ready to sell. The step is validated when a page of the attributed account has its identity verified by Friym and offers at least one product for sale. The order in which these two conditions are met does not matter. A draft product does not count.

A step can be validated only once per attributed account. You are paid only for validated steps, after the review provided for in article 6.3. No compensation is due for a mere number of sign-ups, views or followers.

6.2 The rate card

The rate card sets the number of points for each step and the value of a point. It is shown to you in the app before you accept, then in your dashboard. It is confidential (article 9).

Friym may change the rate card for the future, upwards or downwards: both the number of points for a step (for example, taking a step from 6 to 4 points) and the value of a point. The change is announced to you in the app at least fifteen (15) days before it applies. A step already reached keeps the points of the rate card in force when it was reached. If you do not accept the new rate card, you may leave the programme (article 10.1).

6.3 Review and rejected steps

A step is not always validated as soon as it is reached. Friym checks steps before paying them, by automated and human means, in particular the steps worth the most points, or when there are signs of fake accounts.

- Steps 1 and 2 are validated only if the account has been used on at least one day other than its sign-up day, within the seven (7) days that follow. Otherwise, they may be rejected.
- Friym may reject a step where it has serious reason to believe that it does not reflect genuine use of Friym by a real person, even if you did not cause the problem (article 8.2).
- A step under review appears as "under review" in your dashboard, with no amount and no reason: the reason may relate to suspected fraud, and giving it would undermine the check.

- A rejected step carries its reason in your dashboard and in your statement. The reason states the rule concerned, not how it was detected.
- A step validated after review is paid with the statement for the month in which it was validated.

The means of checking may change at any time, without any change to these terms, as long as they serve to verify that steps are genuine.

6.4 Statement and payment

- A statement is issued each month in your dashboard. Amounts are expressed in CFA francs (XOF).
- Payment is monthly, by Mobile Money or bank transfer depending on your country, to the details you provide in your dashboard. These details are requested at the latest when the amount owed to you first reaches the payment threshold. You are responsible for their accuracy: a payment made to the details you provided is deemed received by you.
- An amount owed of less than 5,000 F is carried over to the following month, and added to the next amounts. It is never lost.
- Friym charges no fees on your payments.
- Compensation passes through neither a seller balance nor a Friym wallet.
- A payment may be withheld during a review, under article 8.3.

6.5 Disputing a statement

You have ten (10) days from the date a statement is made available in your dashboard to dispute it, by e-mail to partners@friym.com. Friym re-examines the disputed steps, and a rejected step may be validated again. After that period, the statement is deemed accepted, save for fraud discovered later (article 8).

6.6 Sums paid in error

A sum paid in error is not owed: a wrong amount, a double payment, or a step rejected after it was paid. Friym deducts it from the amounts that will be owed to you. If no amount is due to come, you must repay it at Friym's request.

6.7 Tax and social charges

You are solely responsible for the tax and social security obligations attaching to the sums paid to you, in your country of residence or activity.

7. Your obligations

7.1 Presenting Friym honestly

As a creator in the programme, you undertake to:

- present Friym accurately and without misleading claims; promise no gain, benefit, feature or performance that the platform does not offer. In particular, never present Friym as a way to earn money by signing up;
- clearly disclose that this is a paid partnership when promoting Friym, in accordance with the rules applicable to commercial communication and influencer marketing in your country;
- declare your age truthfully: you are an adult;

- not use the photo, name or identity of another person on your personal profile, or in what you publish to promote your code;
- not use Friym's trademark, logo or visual identity other than through the visual generated by the app and the uses Friym authorises;
- not imply that you represent Friym, that you are an employee of FIDEVO GROUP SAS, or that you have any decision-making power over the platform; not run advertising that suggests it comes from Friym, and not buy advertising keywords containing "Friym";
- comply, as a user of the platform, with the Terms of Service.

7.2 What you may not do to get sign-ups

You may not:

- offer anything in exchange for entering your code: money, airtime, data bundles, gifts, prize draws or contests. Nor may you make it conditional on the provision of personal data;
- pay people, or have them paid, to create an account, post, create a page or a shop, or buy;
- swap code entries with other creators, in groups or through any other arrangement;
- spread your code through unsolicited bulk messages, in the comments or private messages of other profiles on Friym, or on promo-code websites;
- target children under 13, who cannot register on Friym.

7.3 Cooperation

At Friym's request, you state within seven (7) days where and how you shared your code: links to your posts, groups, campaigns. If you do not reply within that time, Friym may suspend your code and withhold your payments (article 8.3).

8. Fraud and sanctions

The programme pays for real people who genuinely use Friym. Anything else is fraud, and fraud is never paid. Friym checks steps both before and after paying them.

8.1 What counts as fraud

Fraud includes, in particular, any of the following, whether done by you or by someone acting with you or for you:

- creating fictitious accounts, or several accounts for the same person, or having them created;
- using several phones, SIM cards, emulators, cloning apps, bots or scripts to create or run accounts;
- entering your own code from another account, or having relatives enter it on accounts they will not use;
- simulating activity (posts, reactions, messages, pages, shops) solely to reach a step;
- arranging fictitious sales, or purchases made by you or at your request, including when they are later cancelled or refunded;
- concealing your identity or location to apply or to get around a country restriction;
- applying again after your code has been closed, under another account or through another person;
- attempting to get around Friym's checks, or to identify the accounts attributed to your code.

This list is not exhaustive.

8.2 Fraud by someone you invited

A step may be rejected even when the fraud comes from someone you invited, without your involvement. In that case, only the step is rejected. The sanctions in article 8.3 apply only if you committed the fraud, took part in it, or encouraged it or knowingly allowed it.

8.3 Consequences

Situation	Consequence
Doubtful step	Placed under review. It is not paid until it is validated.
Non-compliant step	Rejected, with its reason. If it has already been paid, the sum is deducted from future amounts or must be repaid (article 6.6).
Suspected fraud on your part	Suspension of the code and withholding of payments during the review, for sixty (60) days at most, unless an investigation by the authorities is under way. You are invited to explain yourself.
Established fraud	Permanent closure of the code. All steps of the code not yet paid are rejected, including those that were compliant, as a penalty clause. Sums received for fraudulent steps must be repaid.
Serious or organised fraud	In addition to the above: closure of your Friym accounts under the Terms of Service, and a complaint to the competent authorities.

Accounts created fraudulently are closed under the Terms of Service. Before any closure, the procedure in article 10.2 applies.

8.4 Repayment and prosecution

Sums you must repay become due as soon as the decision is notified to you. Friym may deduct them from any amount owed to you, and recover them by any legal means. Friym may also claim compensation for its loss, in particular the costs incurred in establishing the fraud.

Fraud may constitute a criminal offence, in particular fraud by deception or an attack on a computer system. Friym may file a complaint and pass the information it holds to the competent authorities, in Benin or in your country.

9. Confidentiality of the rate card

The rate card, the value of a point and the content of your statements are confidential. You may not publish them or disclose them to third parties, except to your advisers and to public authorities that request them. You may say that you are paid by Friym, and you must say so (article 7.1), without giving the details.

This obligation continues after your participation ends.

10. Suspension and end of participation

10.1 Leaving the programme

You may leave the programme at any time from your dashboard. The app asks you to confirm, because leaving is permanent (article 10.3).

10.2 Suspension or closure by Friym

Friym may suspend your code, in particular while it examines a possible breach or fraud. A suspended code is refused at entry. Sums already validated remain owed, subject to article 8.3.

Friym may close your code for breach of these terms or of the Terms of Service, for fraud, or for public conduct that seriously harms Friym's reputation. Before closing it, Friym gives you the reasons by e-mail, and you have seven (7) days to respond.

Friym may, however, close your code immediately, giving you the reasons, where:

- the code is clearly misleading, offensive or infringes the rights of a third party;
- serious fraud is established;
- you falsely declared that you are an adult.

After a closure, you may dispute it once, by e-mail to partners@friym.com, within the following ten (10) days. Friym re-examines its decision. If it was based on an error, your code is reopened.

Your code is also suspended if your personal profile is closed. It may be reactivated if that profile is reopened. It is closed if your Friym account is closed or permanently banned.

10.3 Leaving is permanent

Any closure is permanent, including one that results from your own departure. Your code stops working, it is never reassigned, and you can never apply to the programme again. An application made to get around this rule, under another account or through another person, is refused or closed, and the steps of that code are not paid.

10.4 What remains

When your participation ends, for whatever reason:

- attributions already recorded remain: they are neither cancelled, nor transferred, nor erased;
- your dashboard remains accessible;
- steps under review are examined to the end;
- sums owed for validated steps are paid to you, including when they are below the 5,000 F threshold, except where article 8.3 rejects them;
- the obligation to repay sums paid in error, and the confidentiality obligation in article 9, continue to apply.

10.5 Ending the programme

Friym may end the programme for all creators, with thirty (30) days' notice given in the app and by e-mail. Friym may also suspend it immediately for a legal or security reason. Steps validated before the end are paid to you.

10.6 If you were a minor

If you falsely declared that you are an adult, your code is closed immediately. Sums still owed to you are paid only to your legal representative, on proof of that status.

11. Liability

You alone are responsible for your posts and for how you promote your code. You indemnify Friym against any claim by a third party or an authority arising from them, in particular for misleading advertising, failure to disclose the partnership or infringement of the rights of others, including defence costs.

Only attributions and steps recorded by Friym's servers count. Friym is not liable for an attribution or a step that was not recorded because of an outage, a typing error or any other cause not attributable to it.

Friym is not liable for income you expected and lose because of a suspension, a closure, a change to the rate card or the end of the programme, where these occur in accordance with these terms.

Except in the case of gross negligence or wilful misconduct, Friym's liability to you under the programme is limited to the sums owed to you for validated steps that have not yet been paid.

12. General provisions

Changes — Friym may amend these terms. Every change, even a minor one, changes the version number. Any material change is notified to you in the app and by e-mail at least fifteen (15) days before it takes effect. If you do not accept it, you may leave the programme; sums owed remain owed. Previous versions remain available as PDFs at the bottom of this page.

Partners under contract — If you signed a partnership contract with FIDEVO GROUP SAS before 2 November 2026, that contract continues to apply and prevails over these terms in the event of a conflict. In particular, it may provide that your code is attached to a page. For anything it does not cover, these terms apply, including article 8. You have access to the same dashboard.

Evidence — The records of Friym's systems, in particular attributions, timestamps, steps and review signals, are binding between you and Friym unless proven otherwise. Friym is not required to disclose its detection methods to you.

Independence — Your participation creates between you and FIDEVO GROUP SAS no employment relationship, agency, partnership or mandate.

Severability — If any clause of these terms is held void or unenforceable, the others remain in force.

Language — In the event of any difference between the French and English versions of these terms, the French version prevails.

Governing law — These terms are governed by Beninese law. Any dispute relating to their interpretation or performance falls within the jurisdiction of the courts of Porto-Novo, Benin, save for any mandatory legal provision to the contrary applicable in your country of residence.
